

Uses of the Verb Have

1. Have fun / Have a good time

enjoy yourself — disfrutarte

- We had a good time at the concert last night.
- I hope you have fun on your trip to Paris.
- They always have a good time when they visit their grandparents.

2. Have trouble / Have difficulty

find something hard to do — encontrar algo difícil de hacer

- She had trouble finishing the assignment on time.
- I'm having difficulty understanding this chapter.
- They had trouble finding the restaurant.

3. Have to do with

be related to or involved with — estar relacionado con

- This has nothing to do with your performance.
- The book has a lot to do with ancient mythology.
- Their argument had to do with money.

4. Have someone over invite someone to your house — invitar a alguien a tu casa

- We're having my parents over for dinner tonight.
- She had a few friends over to watch the game.
- They love having people over on weekends.

5. Have a party

give a party — hacer una fiesta

- We're having a party to celebrate her promotion.
- They had a big party for their anniversary.
- He wants to have a party on New Year's Eve.

6. Have had it

be totally frustrated — estar totalmente frustrado

- I've had it with this broken printer.
- She said she'd had it after hours of waiting.
- They've had it and just want to go home.

7. Have news

find out something new — enterarse de algo nuevo

- Do you have any news about the case?
- I'll call you if I have news from the doctor.
- She finally had news about her application.

8. Have a baby

give birth — dar a luz

- She had a baby last week.
- They're excited because they're having a baby soon.
- My sister had a baby girl yesterday.

9. Have someone on the line

keep someone on the telephone — mantener a alguien en el teléfono

- Can you hold? I have Mr. Brown on the line.
- She had the technician on the line for twenty minutes.
- I can't talk now—I have my boss on the line.

10. Have a look at

examine or check — examinar / revisar

- Let me have a look at your report.
- The doctor had a look at my knee yesterday.
- Could you have a look at this form?

11. Have an accident

get into an accident — tener un accidente

- He had an accident on the way to work.
- They had an accident but no one was hurt.
- She had an accident last winter.

12. Have time

be able to spend time on something — tener tiempo

- Do you have time to help me?
- I don't have time to cook tonight.
- She finally has time to read again.

13. Have breakfast / lunch / dinner / a drink / a snack

eat or drink — comer o beber

- We had breakfast at a small café.
- He never has lunch before 3 p.m.
- They had a drink after work.

14. Have one's eyes on

be considering — estar considerando

- I have my eyes on a new laptop.
- She has her eyes on that promotion.
- They have their eyes on a house outside the city.